APPENDIX

Japanese patent application publication No. 11-334160

This document relates to a printer including a printing-medium feeding device that can accurately feed a printing medium.

Japanese patent application publication No. 2000-108432

This document relates to a printer including a control device that controls a stepper motor to feed a printing sheet such that an amount of feeding of the printing sheet is automatically adjusted so that printed lines are accurately spaced from each other on the printing sheet.

Japanese patent application publication No. 62-119075

This document relates to a printer including a control device that controls a stepper motor such that a difference of a target sheet feeding amount for a current line and an actual sheet feeding amount for the current line is calculated and stored for the next line.

Japanese patent application publication No. 09-150551

This document relates to an image recording device including a dot-pitch selecting means.

Japanese patent application publication No. 08-192538

This document relates to a printer including a thermal head, wherein a period of firing of the head is adjusted.
